

Leadership Skills Tool

The new skills every leader should have for the future

Worksheet

www.bcrqs.com

Leadership Skills Tool
Developing the new skills needed
for the future

1. Fill out section 1 to include what industry you're currently working in, and what are your biggest challenges currently
2. Rate yourself from 1-10 (10 being highest) on your current future-ready skill level.
3. Write down where your focus areas should be, and what action you'll take tomorrow to move toward a higher level.

STEP 1:

What is the industry you're working in?

What challenges are you wrestling with in terms of team dynamics, industry disruptions, growth, or other?

STEP 2:

Rate yourself from 1-10 on your mastery level of each of the 11 future-ready skills identified.

- Ability to thinking operationally and creatively.
- Ability to accomplish short-term and long-term goals.
- Ability to lead with confidence over certainty.
- Ability to Influence and persuade others to your vision.
- Ability for decision-making and flexibility.
- The strength of your purpose.
- Ability to not only learn, but "unlearn" what no longer works.
- Ability to delegate.
- Ability to fall and fail with resilience.
- Ability to prioritize gratitude over loyalty.
- Your empathy skills and ability to understand others.

Leadership Skills Tool

Developing the new skills needed for the future

1. Fill out section 1 to include what industry you're currently working in, and what are your biggest challenges currently
2. Rate yourself from 1-10 (10 being highest) on your current future-ready skill level.
3. Write down where your focus areas should be, and what action you'll take tomorrow to move toward a higher level.

STEP 3:

Based on the previous analysis, where do you see opportunity to develop a future-ready skill? And what action will you take tomorrow to make progress?
